

28 November 2016

14 Wharepapa South Road
RD7
Te Awamutu

Dear Wharepapa South School,

Thank you for taking part in this year's Red Nose Day campaign to help Cure Kids raise vital funds for child health research. So far, over $720,000 has been raised, with money still rolling in!

Throughout November, over 120,000 noses, 60,000 Red Nose Day pins and 80,000 bracelets made their way around New Zealand, so that incredible individuals like you and the team at Wharepapa South School could help us raise crucial funds.

Your contribution of $28 will help make a difference to the lives of Kiwi kids, and ensure high-impact research can continue to find better treatments and cures for children who live with serious illnesses and health conditions.

Cure Kids have funded, or are currently funding, research to find better treatments and cures for inherited heart conditions, cystic fibrosis, childhood cancers, sudden unexpected death in infancy (SUDI), stillbirth, burns, epilepsy and child and adolescent mental health, among many others.

Support from everyday New Zealanders, like you, makes this important work possible, and we are humbled by the generosity of Kiwis who dug deep and donated to Cure Kids this Red Nose Day.

We are a small country, but a generous one, who care deeply about the health of our kids.

From all the team at Cure Kids, the researchers we work with, and the thousands of Kiwi kids who deserve a healthy childhood, thank you.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Frances Bengé".

Frances Bengé
CEO Cure Kids

28 November 2016

14 Wharepapa South Road
RD7
Te Awamutu

Dear Wharepapa South School,

Thank you for taking part in this year's Red Nose Day campaign to help Cure Kids raise vital funds for child health research. So far, over $720,000 has been raised, with money still rolling in!

Throughout November, over 120,000 noses, 60,000 Red Nose Day pins and 80,000 bracelets made their way around New Zealand, so that incredible individuals like you and the team at Wharepapa South School could help us raise crucial funds.

Your contribution of $28 will help make a difference to the lives of Kiwi kids, and ensure high-impact research can continue to find better treatments and cures for children who live with serious illnesses and health conditions.

Cure Kids have funded, or are currently funding, research to find better treatments and cures for inherited heart conditions, cystic fibrosis, childhood cancers, sudden unexpected death in infancy (SUDI), stillbirth, burns, epilepsy and child and adolescent mental health, among many others.

Support from everyday New Zealanders, like you, makes this important work possible, and we are humbled by the generosity of Kiwis who dug deep and donated to Cure Kids this Red Nose Day.

We are a small country, but a generous one, who care deeply about the health of our kids.

From all the team at Cure Kids, the researchers we work with, and the thousands of Kiwi kids who deserve a healthy childhood, thank you.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Frances Bengé".

Frances Bengé
CEO Cure Kids